Dr Brad Cousins, CEO of Ingage Human Capital Strategies accepted into Forbes Coaches Council

Forbes Coaches Council Is an Invitation-Only Community for Leading Business and Career Coaches

Little Rock, AR September 16, 2020 — Dr. Brad Cousins, CEO of Ingage Human Capital Strategies and Vistage Chair, has been accepted into Forbes Coaches Council, an invitation-only community for leading business and career coaches.

Dr. Cousins was vetted and selected by a review committee based on the depth and diversity of his experience. Criteria for acceptance include a track record of successfully impacting business growth metrics, as well as personal and professional achievements and honors.

“We are honored to welcome Brad into the community,” said Scott Gerber, founder of Forbes Councils, the collective that includes Forbes Coaches Council. “Our mission with Forbes Councils is to bring together proven leaders from every industry, creating a curated, social capital-driven network that helps every member grow professionally and make an even greater impact on the business world.”

As an accepted member of the Council, Brad has access to a variety of exclusive opportunities designed to help him reach peak professional influence. He will connect and collaborate with other respected local leaders in a private forum. Dr. Cousins will also be invited to work with a professional editorial team to share his expert insights in original business articles on Forbes.com, and to contribute to published Q&A panels alongside other experts.

“It is an honor to be recognized by Forbes as a subject matter expert and thought leader in strategy, leadership, and transformation. I am excited to learn and collaborate with the various Forbes councils to extend my passion for Designing Breakthrough Strategy and Coaching Transformational Change” said Brad Cousins. “My research and passion live at the intersection of strategy and people, being a part of the Forbes Coaches Council brings exciting opportunities to create exponential value”.
